Dear Friends,

Thank you for joining us for the second program as part of the New Albany Lecture Series' Conversations on Social Justice.

Let me acknowledge that I recognize that these are not easy discussions. I also realize that not everyone agrees with all of the views expressed by our speakers through the years and that there are different, sometimes conflicting views. However, we believe these are necessary discussions if we are to build a stronger community. If we are to be a community that embraces lifelong learning, civil discourse and the free, open exchange of ideas, we cannot avoid issues that may be difficult or uncomfortable.

As the protests swept across the country, including in New Albany, we asked ourselves what role the Foundation should play. For years, the Foundation has leveraged the lecture series to provide a platform for dialogue on timely issues. Moreover, the lecture series can provide participants an opportunity to listen, learn and hopefully gain a greater understanding on important issues.

Discussions on race, bigotry and discrimination are not new to the lecture series. In 2011, the Foundation hosted civil rights leader and advisor to Dr. Martin Luther King, Clarence Jones and in 2012 we hosted NPR journalist and author, Michele Norris. Last month Distinguished Princeton Professor, Eddie S. Glaude Jr. helped start a new discussion. Tonight we continue our dialogue with Ibram X. Kendi, who is a #1 New York Times bestselling author, professor of history and international studies, and the Director of the Boston University Center for Antiracist Research. He is an Ideas Columnist at The Atlantic, and a correspondent with CBS News. Professor Kendi will be interviewed by Michelle Alexander, a renowned scholar, acclaimed civil rights lawyer and author of the bestseller, The New Jim Crow. Michelle lives in our community and we are so grateful that she is a part of this important discussion.

We are grateful to all of the lecture series sponsors, especially those sponsoring tonight's program including Easton Community Foundation, Encova Insurance, Huntington Bank and Nationwide Children's Hospital.

Thank you again for joining us for tonight's lecture. We hope you will join us for the remaining 2020-2021 season forums!

Sincerely,

Craig Mohre, President
The New Albany Community Foundation

MICHELLE ALEXANDER

MICHELLE ALEXANDER is a highly acclaimed civil rights lawyer, advocate, legal scholar and author of The New Jim Crow: Mass Incarceration in the Age of Colorblindness — the bestselling book that helped to transform the national debate on racial and criminal justice in the United States. Since The New Jim Crow was first published in 2010, it has spent nearly 250 weeks on The New York Times bestseller list and has been cited in judicial decisions and adopted in campus-wide and community-wide reads, and has inspired a generation of racial justice activists motivated by Alexander's unforgettable argument that "we have not ended racial caste in America; we have merely redesigned it." The book has won numerous awards, including the 2011 NAACP Image Award for best nonfiction. Alexander has been featured in national radio and television media outlets, including MSNBC, NPR, CNN, Bill Moyers Journal, The Colbert Show, Real Time with Bill Maher, Tavis Smiley, Democracy Now!, and C-SPAN.

Over the years, Alexander has taught at a number of universities, including Stanford Law School, where she was an associate professor of law and directed the Civil Rights Clinic. In 2005, Alexander won a Soros Justice Fellowship that supported the writing of The New Jim Crow and accepted a joint appointment at the Kirwan Institute for the Study of Race and Ethnicity and the Moritz College of Law at The Ohio State University. Currently she is a visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York City and a contributing opinion writer for The New York Times.

Prior to joining academia, Alexander engaged in civil rights litigation in both the private and nonprofit sector, ultimately serving as the director of the Racial Justice Project for the ACLU of Northern California, where she coordinated the Project's media advocacy, grassroots organizing, and coalition building and launched a major campaign against racial profiling by law enforcement known as the "DWB Campaign" or "Driving While Black or Brown Campaign."

Alexander is a graduate of Stanford Law School and Vanderbilt University. She has clerked for Justice Harry A. Blackmun on the U.S. Supreme Court and for Chief Judge Abner Mikva on the D.C. Circuit of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

THE FOUNDATION'S COVID-19 ASSISTANCE EFFORTS

The Foundation was able to act quickly during the COVID-19 pandemic issuing grants to organizations supporting the community. Donors to the Foundation's COVID-19 Assistance Fund supported food for families through the New Albany Food Pantry, PPE masks for local health providers through Form5 Prosthetics, safety materials for healthcare workers through two local school groups, The Antidote and The Digital Eagles, and provided support to New Albany students in various ways through the pandemic. Special thanks to Huntington for matching donor contributions up to $25,000 during the pandemic and to Facebook for donating a box truck to deliver food and other needed items to families.

How you can support THE NEW ALBANY LECTURE SERIES

A priority for the Foundation moving forward is to endow The New Albany Lecture Series. This will enable the Foundation to continue to present high-quality speakers while keeping lectures accessible to the entire community, including students, senior citizens and veterans. Additionally, endowing The New Albany Lecture Series would allow the Foundation to continue to invest in other transformative projects and initiatives in the community. Already, several families have established endowment funds to support the series.

Facebook, Google and other leading tech companies all saw the same thing in New Albany.

The future.

They saw a business park with a clear vision of tomorrow. They saw the strength of our technological infrastructure. They saw one of the nation's most robust and affordable fiber optic networks, triple electric feeds and the power of tremendous bandwidth.

They saw what every company wants when looking for a new home. A place that delivers the resources they need to grow. To thrive. And look ahead with confidence. The New Albany International Business Park. Where will your business be tomorrow?

The New Albany International Business Park and its Information and Technology Cluster are home to a growing list of leading mission critical facilities. We invite you to join them.

THE NEW ALBANY
Community Foundation

Celebrating 25 years of impact.

In 2020, two fundamental priorities emerged. Our health. And our humanity.

While we entered the year with a carefully constructed plan, a global pandemic and a movement to advance social justice put those plans on hold. So we shifted our focus and asked you to join us. And you responded with an outpouring of support. Because of your generosity, we made grants totaling nearly $200,000 toward the safe reopening of our schools, to the New Albany Food Pantry and in support of local mental health initiatives. We also introduced our Conversations on Social Justice with a virtual event featuring Eddie S. Glaude Jr., who chairs the Department of African American Studies at Princeton University. We all came away from the conversation with a greater understanding of how to care for each other. Looking back, that's what this year was all about.

When you donate through the Foundation, gifts of any size, large and small, generate impact in so many ways. Grants have been made in support of worthy efforts that touch lives throughout our community. Including the Charleen & Charles Hinson Amphitheater, which will provide a gathering place for community events, enabling us to build and strengthen community bonds. The Foundation has been at the center of efforts like this that bring us together. And it's all made possible by your support. If you've given, we thank you. And if you are yet to make a gift, we invite you to join us.

Meet the Lower recruiting team helping fuel the fintech startup's growth

New Albany Startup Doubles Size in Six Months, Awarded Top Workplace

When you walk through the doors at Lower, it's instantly exciting. There's music, movement and a ton of energy. A ping-pong table in the lobby. And an employee lounge that looks like a trendy whisky bar straight out of the Short North.

Only 18 months after Lower.com was founded, it's safe to say this New Albany-based startup has not only succeeded, but is thriving. From winning a National Glassdoor Best Place To Work to growing the team exponentially—including hiring over 200 people amid the pandemic. Lower is helping people build wealth through homeownership.

How Lower is creating an award-winning culture in New Albany

Cool workspace aside, creating a "Best Place to Work" isn't about the fun they undoubtedly have at Lower, it's the type of people this atmosphere attracts. A vibrant, hard-working, energetic team that's growing exponentially. "While most companies search for experience in the financial industry, we invest in those just starting out—giving them the first step into a lifelong career" Lower CEO Dan Snyder says. "Matched with our culture, it all comes together to create a great place to work."

Dan Snyder—
Award-Winning
Entrepreneur, New
Albany Resident &
Business Owner

Optimizing homeownership and what's next for Lower

While Lower launched with a focus on home financing, they're taking it to a new level. Soon, they'll be launching a new ecosystem that puts everything a person needs to buy or own a home in one place—starting with saving.

"Lower always been about optimizing the homeownership experience" says Snyder. "Owning a home is a huge opportunity for people to build wealth, so we center everything we do around that idea. 'How can we help make it easier people buy—and make the most out of their home?'"

Things move fast around Lower—to keep up with what the team is up to, check out Lower.com.

Lower is located at 7775 Walton Parkway, on the north side of 161. Lower is an Equal Housing Lender. NMLS ID #1124061.

THE LIFELONG LEARNING CIRCLE

The New Albany Community Foundation established The Lifelong Learning Circle in response to its donors' desire to support The New Albany Lecture Series, a program of lectures now in its eighth season. Members of The Lifelong Learning Circle help the Foundation underwrite the cost of the series so that central Ohio students can benefit from these programs. Today, students from New Albany Schools and throughout central Ohio will have the opportunity to participate in the Foundation's first Conversations on Social Justice program featuring Ibram X. Kendi and Michelle Alexander.

 THE
 SERIES

Today, more than any other time in our 25-year history, our commitment to lifelong learning has never been stronger. Through The New Albany Lecture Series, now in its 8th season, we will bring the issues of the day into sharp focus. We are living through a time that presents a unique opportunity for us to come together to seek greater understanding. We invite you to join us for these virtual and free events.
